

"Look, the two of them went to sleep. They must have had an exciting day," says Mother.

"They look like they are having a dream. I sure wish I could see what they see right now. Shall we wake them up or try to carry them to their beds?" asks Father.

"Just pick them up and put them in bed. It won't hurt them to be in bed early," says Mother.